MR. BERRY'S CAREER. Mr. Oscar H. Berry, the head of this great establishment, has had a wide and varied experience in the clothing business. He first started in the business in 1870, representing a large New York importing and jobbing-house. He remained with the firm for seven years, when he returned to Richmond, and connected himself with the branch house in this city of John Wanamaker, then located on the southeast corner of Tenth and Main streets. After two years with this firm, Mr. Berry associated himself with Mr. George B. McAdams, and purchased the business, conducting it thereafter under the firmname of McAdams & Berry.

Then it was that he purchased the store, stock, and good will of Mr. A. Saks, and moving his large stock of clothing in with that purchased from Saks, he has a store as large as any in the South, and a stock which he thinks is larger and more complete than any in the South.

Some time ago Mr. Berry, together with the heads of his various departments, went North and ordered the goods for manufacture, and it is expected that they will be here within the next thirty days. It, therefore, becomes necessary to make room for these up-to-date goods, and hence, with the opening yesterday. from which he has just moved, and during that time his business grew steadily with each year, until it became necessary for him to secure more commodious quarters. An Attempt to Escape from Jail

HIS EFFORTS APPRECIATED.

That his efforts to give the people of Richmond high-class goods at moderate prices is appreciated was attested yesterday by the vast throngs which crowded the store until fosing time, and Mr. Berry, in discussing the sales of the day, after the store had closed, said he was more than gratified at the patronage which had been bestowed upon him. His increased facilities place him in a better position to serve his patrons than he has ever been, and he will no doubt increase the volume of his business many fold. Frustrated. PETERSBURG, VA., August 18 .- (Spe cial.)-One of the boldest attempts at jail delivery that have ever been known in this city was made to-night, and but for the discipline which is carried out by Sheriff Watson's deputies it would have The reputation of the firm has always been successful. Robert Davis, who is serving out a sixmonths' term for a misdemeanor. On last Tuesday Herbert Muirhead, a young white boy, was discharged from jail, having served his term out, and he was, it is believed, the confederate on the outside. He was given money by the prisoners, with which he purchased, it is alleged, two saws and other tools. Tuestaking their airing in the yard, Muirhead, it is supposed, threw the tools to them. The action of Davis in concealing something was noticed by the other prisoners in the yard, and a watch was kept on them. Davis and Wright must have done their work mostly at night. So slyly did they do it and so carefully did they thing was suspected until late this eveexamination of the cell in which these prisoners were, and found that the iron bars of the window had been sawed in two and every preparation made for an escape to-night. Without letting the prisoners know of his discovery, Kilmartin had them removed to another cell and carefully searched, but nothing was found on them. Muirhead was arrested at Central Park to-night, and denied most emphatically the charges against him of aiding the prisoners to escape. came to this city with Merritt, who, it will be remembered, was sentenced to the penitentiary for life in Raleigh and made his escape from that institution in June.

The condition of Mr. H. A. Thompson, LYNCHBURG, VA., August 18 .- (Spe cial.)-The Jaeger trial still drags 'ts weary length along, and the entire morning was, as far as results are concerned, frittered away in wrangling, arguing, and the introduction of evidence, which seemed irrelevant. The time that is being cona call to the Rev. Claudius Smith, of Abingdon, to succeed the Rev. R. LATE YESTERDAY AFTERNOON, WAS NOT UNEXPECTED.

An Onslaught on Tobacco, People's Gas, and Brooklyn Rapid Transit-

NEW YORK, August 18-The reaction in prices of stocks which has been looked for for several days came in the late of the market, and have several times St. Paul Consols sought to bring it about by attacking stocks with short sales. They were having fair success yesterday when the announcement of the increase in the Burlington dividend put them to rout. The subsequent upward surge of the market served to make it all the more vulnerable to bear attack, and they opened their guns this morning with an onslaught on Tobacco, People's Gas, and Brooklyn Rapid Transit, Although this assault came with very heavy realizing offerings in the Grangers and Pacifics and some other recent favorites, the outside demand for stocks was so enormous as to take the market away from the professionals and lift prices upward in furiously active and very widely distributed trading. But there came a time later in the day when the outside demand was for the time satisfied, and when the recent purchasers of stocks were still anxious to take the handsome profits accrued upon them. The bears kept nibbling at the list, and made an aggressive attack in the last hour, which carried prices down sufficiently to wipe out weak margins and bring out stop-loss orders.

THEY FINALLY SUCCUMBED. The group of low-priced railroad stocks and industrial specialties, into which the tide of speculation shifted this morning, had not sufficient strength to hold the market in face of this liquidation, al-though they held stubbornly through most of it. Some of them finally succumbed with the rest of the list, which fell gene-

As gold is unsuitable for this purpose, and there is almost a famine of legal tenders, there is a lively demand for the new government 3 per cents, for bank circulation. This bond commanded 1951-2 on the stock ex-change to-day, which is 1-4 above the previous high level.

There was a good market for railroad bonds to-day, and a slightly yielding ten-dency to prices in the late dealings. Total sales $3,550,000. Bid prices for government bonds were unchanged, except for the 3's, when issued, which advanced 1-4. MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Lord Salisbury as a Journalist.

(From a Review in the St. James's Ga-(From a Review in the St. James's Gazette.)

The chapter on Lord Salisbury gives some details of the Premier's early life that we have not seen in print before. It was vaguely known that, after leaving Oxford, and after a turn at the Australian gold diggings, young Robert Cecli wrote articles for the Quarterly and for the Saturday, but it is not generally known that he was a regular leader writer for the Standard. This was under the editorship of Captain Hamber, a well-known figure in Fleet street in the last generation, and it is, no doubt, on Hamber's authority that Mr. Escott tells the story: Rosin-Stendy; strained, common to known figure in Fleet street in the last generation, and it is, no doubt, on Hamber's authority that Mr. Escott tells the story:

"Among Robert Cecil's contemporaries at Oxford, though not at the same college, had been one Thomas Hamber, of Oriel. A friend of Hamber's father had recently bought at a bargain the sister newspaper properties of the Morning Herald and the Standard.

"Ambor had been installed by his father's friend in the editorship not only of the struggling Standard, but of the well-established Morning Herald. Leader writers of Lord Robert Cecil's calibre and varied acquirements and experiences, not common even to-day, were quite unknown on the London press then. The acquaintance with life, the knowledge of the way in which history is made, the insight into the motives of the men who make it: these even more than their incisive diction, were the qualities which made Lord Robert Cecil's articles valuable. They largely helped to make the paper in which he wrote. At all the international crises during the Palmerstonian era, especially the years 1826-57, and the domestic and foreign consequences arising out of the eastern war, the Indian mutiny, or out of the events contemporary with them, Lord Robert Cecil's pen was almost daily employed on the newspaper which then, as now, issued from Shoe Lane. Thither to interview his editor, with respect to the topic for daily treatment, Robert Cecil from his Paccadilly chambers used regularly to go."

Nor were Lord Robert Cecil's experiences as a hard-working journalist confined to Shoe Lane. He wrote also on the old Morning Chronicle, and above all on the Saturday Review, on which he had as colleagues, besides many other brilliant young men waiting for fame, Mr. Vernon Harcourt and Mr. John Morley, Readers of Sir Theodore Martin's "Life of tha Prince Consort" will recollect that at one time the Prince was much exercised about the "abominable anti-Prussian articles" of the Times, and writing to his daughter, now the Empres Frederic, he commends, as a corrective, THE DRY GOODS MARKET.

NEW YORK, August 18.—The dry-goods trade is quiet to-day, the buyers in town restricting their trading as much as possible to the jobbing stores and the supplies which need immediate replenishing and high novelties. The general market has gained very little from this store trading. Mail orders have been fairly numerous, but there are not many heavy orders registered, so that the daily averages do not reach any surprising figures. CHICAGO, August 18.—Urgent covering CHICAGO, August 18.—Urgent covering by shorts to-day, occasioned by a good cash demand, rescued prices in the wheat pit. South and Scandinavians. (Savannah News.)

The Georgia and Alabama railroad expects quite an influx of Scandinavians from the Northwest the coming fall and winter. At Listonia, a point about cleven miles this side of Cordele, there are now seven or eight families of Scandinayians. The attention of others has been attracted to this section by their presence there and the liberal advertising Georgia received from the visit of the Scandinavian editors some months ago. Inquiries show that there is quite a disposition among the Swedes and Norwegians of Minnesota and adjacent States to migrate to this section, as offering superior inducements

I am inclined to look for quite a large immigration of Scandi-navians. Large tracts of land have been bought by them, and every one who has visited the portion of the State about Listonia has been well pleased. Mr. Liz-toes, after whom the settlement is named, is a prominent Scandinavian citizen of is a prominent Scandinavian citizen of St. Paul. There is no class of people who are more desirable as settlers than the Scandinavians. They are hardy, indus-trious, thrifty, and intelligent. We are very hopeful as to the prospects of this
